

ESSIAC™ & HHA 4-HERB TEA INFORMATION

COPYRIGHT 2015 MARIJAH MCCAIN, WORLD CLASS NATUROPATH

The herbal formula developed by Rene Caisse back in the 20's is a simple, effective herbal remedy for many ailments. The formula is made up of 4 herbs that are primary Alterative (blood purifying), Hepatic (detoxify and cleanse the liver), and Demulcent (soothes irritations and inflammations). The main ingredient, Burdock Root is known to specifically helps neutralize toxins in the blood. It also stimulates liver secretions thus helping the liver eliminate toxic compound build ups. It strengthens the liver and other vital organs with necessary nutrients. For instance, Burdock Root is high in Chromium, Iron, Magnesium, Silicon and Thiamine and contains many other ingredients such as Niacin, Riboflavin, Vitamin A and Vitamin C to name a few. This is an important difference between chemical drug therapy (allopathic medicine) and natural medicine. The chemical drugs and symptom therapies that are traditionally prescribed by main stream medicine provide the body with NO nutrients to help the body's own immune system fight the ailment.

I would like to briefly mention that it is of critical importance that the herbs for this formula be purchased from a reliable dealer. I recently returned 45 pounds of Burdock Root to one of the leading herbal supply houses. I purchased them because their prices were so much lower than my regular suppliers. When it arrived, it had no smell and appeared lifeless. It did not give me the proper taste or the proper coloring when added to water. I confronted this company and after checking with their laboratory they informed me that it was an inferior product, but it was still Burdock root and that was where their liability ended. I asked what they would do with the 45 pounds I was returning and they informed me that it was going out to the health food stores. They had thousands of pounds... Now my friends, like any form of medicine, herbology requires skilled professional people like myself, that can recognize potent medicine from impotent medicine... I can assure you that the herbs that I find and sell are the very best available on the U.S. market. The imported herbs are radiated, and many times sit in customs for months, this causes them to lose potency... We are one of the only companies in the U.S. that can provide you with organically grown and prepared herbs for this formula. None of our herbs are imported.

DR. MCCAIN'S RECOMMENDATIONS BASED ON OBSERVATIONS:

Make the bulk 4-Herb formula up fresh every two weeks. (Contains no preservatives)

Do not substitute the concentrate formula for the original brew at home herbs when using it for cancer.

Never use anything but clean, equipment when preparing this formula. One person could not find a strainer and used an old sweater to strain it. Of course, the formula went bad.

Beware of cheaper herbs and other products... Many times they are not what you are counting on. Our herbs are priced very low for the quality that they are. Health food store herbs in many cases are imported and sit on shelves for a great deal of time, thus losing potency. Ours are fresh. We sold over 3 tons of this product last year!

QUESTIONS WE ARE ASKED...

WHY DOES MY LATEST BATCH OF 4-HERBS TASTE DIFFERENT? The important thing to understand about herbal medicine is that it is not consistent like you are used to. Depending on where the herbs are wildcrafted from (alkaline soil/acidic soil), when they are picked, how they are dried, how they are ground, etc. and who does it, all plays a role in the proper medicinal formula. Because of the quantity of herbs that I use, I purchase from different suppliers. I am very careful to check the potency, but the differences outlined above can alter the taste and consistency, and even the appearance. Another reason for the taste difference can be the taste buds of the person taking the Essiac. Many times after the formula has worked at helping the body, the body chemistry may have altered and things simply don't taste the same.

WHY IS THE HERBAL FORMULA THICK? This formula is thick because of the Slippery Elm Bark. This herb is a DEMULCENT and creates a slimy consistency. This is especially effective in healing inflamed tissue and stomach ulcers. Note: Formula is not always thick... see above

IS IT O.K. IF THE FORMULA I MADE IS CLOUDY? This is only because it hasn't been put through a very fine filter. If you let it settle, the larger herb pieces will settle on the bottom of your bottle. This will not harm the formula in anyway. Some people have reported taking the sludge that is left after filtering, and using it like a poultice on cancer type wounds. I have heard of two cures, so far.

CAN THIS FORMULA BE TAKEN WITH CHEMOTHERAPY? We do not recommend chemotherapy and have no scientific experimentation to answer this. I can tell you that I have numerous reports of people on chemotherapy that are taking this formula and in some cases the doctors are amazed that they are not suffering the normal side-effects. It has proven itself very safe.

ARE THERE ANY NEGATIVE SIDE EFFECTS? We have no serious side effects reported to-date. (5 years of research) Sometimes, if a person is very toxic, a headache may be experienced. What is happening is that the formula is mobilizing the toxins to be reprocessed by the body and you are not taking enough fluid to get them out. In many cases an herbal laxative or a simple glass of prune juice is indicated. Always keep bowels moving and drink plenty of fluids to help cleanse your body.
